

Author Presents Book to Heritage Library

Author John Cairns, who writes under the pen name Jay Scott Kanes, recently presented copies of his book "High Degree of Atrocity" to Cathy Ashton, Branch Technician at Kensington Heritage Library.

Kanes, a graduate of UPEI and former Sault Star reporter, and who now calls Hong Kong home, has penned his first work of fiction about Hong Kong's divisive political future in the year 2009.

"Based on global values of freedom, this highly-entertaining Asian tale carries special meaning and a pow-

Kensington Heritage Library

Located at Town Hall
Branch Technician
Cathy Ashton
1-902-836-3721
e-mail - kensington@gov.pe.ca
webpage - www.library.pe.ca
Hours of Operation
Tues. 9:30am - 1:30pm
Thurs. 2:30 - 7:00pm
Sat. 9:30am - 1:00pm

erful impact," Kanes says.

His earliest inspiration came 15 years ago when innocent students died at the Beijing Massacre.

Kindergarten & Pre-school Reading Time
Every Tuesday 10 AM. Children not attending with their class are welcome to join us along with their caregivers.

French Language Reading Time
Saturday, October 16, 10:30 AM. Children enrolled in French Immersion, or others who want to increase their exposure to French are welcome to attend.

Anniversary Celebrations
Saturday, October 23, 2:00 PM. A family event with special guests, prize draws, readings, refreshments

70th Anniversary Plans
Plans are continuing for the celebration of our 70th anniversary. There are prizes selected for an in-library draw. If you have a library card, you are eligible to enter the draw. Come in to fill in your ballot. If you don't have a card, bring some ID and you can get one. Becoming a patron of the PEI Library System doesn't cost anything and opens up a world of reading.

We are looking for interesting stories of the Kensington library in the past. A writing contest is running for all who would like to tell their own story, or the story of an elder in the community. Interview a senior and tell us what they remember. All entries must be turned in to the Kensington Library by Saturday, October 16. This is open to all ages and prizes will be awarded according to age categories.

From younger library patrons, we are looking for pictures. You can enter the Author Jay Scott Kanes presents his book "High Degree of Atrocity" to Cathy Ashton, Branch Technician of the Kensington Heritage Library.

contest "Library of Your Dreams" or draw something about the Kensington Library. Deadline is still October 16. The "Library of Your Dreams" contest is part of the PEI Library Week and entries are open to all ages. More info. is available on the web-site (www.library.pe.ca <<http://www.library.pe.ca/>>) or by coming in to the library.

you're in.

New Adult Fiction Books in the Kensington collection this:
•The Secret on Ararat by Tim F. LaHaye
•Hocus Croakus: A Bed and-Breakfast Mystery by Mary Daheim.
•The Lavender Butterfly Murders: A Scotia MacKinnon Mystery by Sharon Duncan

HERITAGE LIBRARY 70th ANNIVERSARY
CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION!

Do you special memories of the Library? If so, contact the library for details on how to submit an entry for a writing contest. Younger patrons can enter the "Library of Your Dreams" contest. Deadline for both contests is Oct. 16th. For more information call 836-3721.